B. COURSE CONTENT & OBJECTIVES

As consumers, you already know something about marketing. But I hope you'll discover that there's a lot more to marketing than first meets the eye. My objective in this course is to help you develop a broad and practical understanding of the basics of consumer behaviour drivers, marketing, both as a management tool and as a force in society. What is marketing? What role does it play in modern organizations, both for-profit and not-for-profit? What makes for a good marketing strategy and what tactical tools bring such a strategy to life? We'll ask these basic questions to dig into the marketing activities of companies and important marketing issues.

The course begins with an introduction to marketing and marketing strategy—what marketing is, and its role and objectives. We will examine the importance of consumer-centric and socially responsible marketing for maintaining the integrity and profitability of a company. These chapters will help to organize your thinking about marketing and will establish a framework for the course and the three general sections that follow. From there, we will focus on understanding and analyzing a company, its competitors, and its consumers. We will also examine how marketers analyze the marketing environment—how they use marketing research and information systems to study consumers and identify marketing opportunities. Next, we'll look at the elements of marketing strategy—segmentation, targeting, differentiation and positioning. Finally, we will examine the “marketing mix”—the set of tactical tools marketers use to implement their strategies, including product, pricing, distribution (i.e., place), and promotion.

Learning Goals and Objectives

On successful completion of this course, students are expected to be able to:

1. Examine the key concepts, theories and principles of marketing and its relationship to other business functions and the business environment.
2. Analyze the core issues involved in a marketing problem and critically evaluate the underlying assumptions, relevant concepts and theories.
3. Propose rigorous and creative solutions to a range of marketing problems using selected quantitative and analytic tools and persuasively communicate those solutions and decisions to a variety of audiences, both orally and in writing, using appropriate marketing terminology.
4. Assess the impact and function of marketing from the perspective of the organization, the individual consumer and society, taking account of factors such as cultural diversity, globalization, ethics and social responsibility.

- Lead and work effectively in a team to accomplish selected tasks, respecting the ideas and opinions of other and making a positive contribution to collaborative projects.
- Select and evaluate information and effectively utilize information technology to achieve marketing goals.
- Identify and exploit key opportunities that are conducive to career success.

C. TEXTBOOK & OTHER MATERIALS

- Principles of Marketing*, 17th edition, by Kotler/Armstrong, Pearson, 2018. Read assigned chapter before lecture. Lectures may cover only a subset of the assigned readings, but students should be familiar with all assigned readings for quiz.
- Lecture notes will be available in advance on the course's Canvas website.
- Videos will be shown in class and their content may appear on quiz. These videos will not be available on the course website or in the library.

D. COURSEWORK & ASSESSMENT

Coursework	Weight (%)	Nature of Activity
Quiz	35	Individual
Marketing Plan ¹	35	Team
Peer Evaluation	10	Individual
Business Case/In-class activities ^{2,3,4,5}	20	Team/Individual

- Individual scores can be adjusted based on peer evaluations.
- Participation in discussions & etiquette (e.g. be punctual, no talking, no phones). Please, use a paper with your full English name in front of you during class.
- Activities related to lectures/videos. Attend your assigned section to receive credit!
- Students are expected to attend every class and be on time. Attendance will contribute to your participation grade. Learning in this class depends heavily in your willingness to expose your insights and points of view to the rest of the group. You are expected to read assigned materials, watch the videos, make questions and contribute to class discussions. I may call on students to volunteer their point of view or do role playing to encourage debates. Never be afraid to express your opinions. Remember there are often no right or wrong answers.
- A business case (Beyonce personal album release) will be used at the end of the course as a team role play exercise to put into motion everything we have learned in class. Details will be available in class.

Team Activities Overview

The purpose of team activities is to expose you to business endeavors and problems in a realistic business context, i.e., in a team. Make your own teams, and ask me for help if you do not know anybody. Teams are expected to:

- Sit together in lecture.
- Work together on the Marketing Plan, and in-class activities.
- Manage activities and resolve conflict internally. You can stave off conflict by defining individual responsibilities early on.

Peer Assessment: Peer assessment provides me with a glimpse into what happened behind the scenes, be it exceptionally good individual contributions or free-loading problems, and may be used to adjust individual scores. Each team member will (anonymously) evaluate each of his/her teammates once in this semester.

Peer evaluations will be completed online. You will be informed when the peer evaluation system becomes available. Failure to complete peer evaluations will result in a deduction from your individual score on that assignment.

Coursework Components

1. QUIZ

There will be only one quiz in this course (“closed book”, 60% MC and 40% open-ended questions with 300 words MAX each). It will cover material from lectures (including videos) and the textbook.. Bring your student ID to the quiz; no exceptions. Also bring HB pencils, an eraser, and a pen (blue or black ink only). You will record your answers on an optical scan sheet and answer booklet. Refer to the course schedule and Canvas for quiz details. A seating plan may or may not be posted for the quiz.

Under no circumstances will a make-up quiz or assignment be administered because it is impossible for me to construct a quiz or assignment that is equal in difficulty to the original. If you miss the quiz, approval is granted only for documented illness or certain school-related academic or sporting events. Most absences require approval in advance.

2. MARKETING PLAN

Each team will develop a basic marketing plan for a product or service that they would like to bring to HKUST campus (it can be a roll-out of an existing one). Feel free to propose ideas that improve upon or emulate existing products or services, such as Facebook, Tom Shoes, Ocean recovered pastic products, etc... If you need help generating ideas, atk to me! All your projects will need my approval within the first 10 days of the course, I want to support all of you to generate projects that you can learn from, have fun doing and also get a very good grade.

The purpose of this assignment is for teams to assess marketing opportunities by analyzing customers, competitors, and their own company (the 3 Cs), devise an effective marketing strategy (STP), and design appropriate plans for pricing, promotion, place, and product (the 4 Ps). To accomplish these goals, the team should become kind of experts on the product or service, company, and industry in which it operates. Be sure to apply concepts and terminology from class.

TENTATIVE GUIDELINES FOR PREPARING A MARKETING PLAN

Teamwork Session: All teammates are expected to attend. In preparation for these classes, teams should have conducted an exhaustive consumer insight, competitor analysis and targeting strategy. While there is no formal format for the analysis, it should demonstrate that the team has conducted market research and now understands the competition, gathering industry information from different sources. This market research stage forms the basis for identifying opportunities and difficulties for marketing your product/service. That is, teams will rely on their market research to decide how to market their product/service (STP & 4Ps). Therefore, to make the most of the teamwork session, it is recommended that all teams conduct a consumer and competitor analysis prior to the teamwork session.

Written report: Each team will submit a single write-up that is no longer than four pages (not including title page and exhibits). Additional pages of exhibits may be added as needed. Use at least 11 point typeface and one inch margins. Submit the plan titled as follows: MARK2120plan_T#(team number)". Teams have flexibility in how they format the plan. Choose either of the formats detailed in the textbook (i.e., either Table 2.2 “Contents of a Marketing Plan” or Appendix 1 “Marketing Plan”), or choose the following format:

- Title page
- Executive Summary
- Consumer Insight (brief consumer tension to relief, related to Maslow Pyramid of Needs) and Marketplace analysis summary.
- 3Cs:
 1. Customer Analysis (Who is the market of potential buyers? What are their needs/wants?)
 2. Competitor Analysis (acknowledge all competitors in the market, i.e., firms that offer a similar product/service, and firms that offer a different product/service that fulfills similar needs)
 3. Company Analysis (essentially a mission statement since your company doesn't actually exist)
- Segmentation, Targeting and Positioning
- 4Ps:
 1. Product Plan
 2. Pricing Plan (state and justify your pricing strategy but you need not estimate costs)

3. Distribution Plan
 4. Promotion Plan
- Exhibits (if necessary)
 - References (reference all information not covered in the textbook, e.g. background information and outside data sources. You may use any style you wish, e.g., APA, just use it consistently)

Oral presentation and Q&A: Teams must arrive to class prepared to present their plan on the assigned day. Teams should present the highlights of their plan, being sure to touch on the 3 Cs, STP, and 4 Ps. Presentations should be 8-10 minutes and will be followed by 2 minutes of questions or feedback from Professor and peers if time allows. It is important that teams control their time. Practicing presentations is strongly advised. Teams are also advised to use visual aids (e.g., tables and graphs, PowerPoint, videos, product prototypes) and to avoid reading during the presentation. The dress code is formal, but students who do not own a suit may dress business casual. It is necessary that all team members speak during the presentation and participate in their team's Q&A.

Before your team's presentation, your team must:

- (1) submit a hard copy of the presentation materials to me (your instructor) at the beginning of class.
- (2) arrive to class 5-10 minutes early to upload the presentation and ensure any links/videos work properly.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Grading is based on:

- The quality of your team's plan
 - Follow the Marketing Plan process we will learn in class: apply the 4 boxes steps.
 - This category includes depth of understanding of relevant industry, application of principles of 3Cs and 4Ps, strategic planning (refer to the "Guidelines for preparing a marketing plan")
- The team's ability to convey their ideas clearly, both in writing and in their class presentation.
 - Quality of writing: organization of information and clarity of writing.
 - Quality of presentation: preparedness, handling questions, use of visual or other aids.
- Teams will be penalized if:
 - they fail to attend the teamwork session,
 - they fail to submit a plan outline at the beginning of the teamwork session
 - the final plan is submitted after the deadline
 - presentation is outside 8-10 min duration
 - Plan fails to reference appropriately
- Individual scores may be adjusted up or down based on peer evaluations.

Course Grades

All assignments, quizzes, etc. are averaged (using the weights indicated above) and an overall percentage score is calculated for each of you. The university requires that these percentage scores be translated into letter grades and has rules regarding the percentage of students who can be assigned each of those letter grades. This means that your final letter grade depends on where you rank in the class. All letter grades will follow the distribution requirements of the university. Unless you suspect a calculation error, do not attempt to negotiate a better grade. Any request for grade recalculation must be made in writing and submitted within one week of the grade being posted.

E. ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic integrity is a critical value of the university community. Integrity violations destroy the fabric of a learning community and the spirit of inquiry that is vital to the effectiveness the University. Cheating entails offering or receiving assistance from other people or sources. To avoid cheating, quizzes must be completed without the assistance of notes or other people, and team assignments must be completed entirely and solely by the members of the team. Plagiarism is copying anything from another source without citing that source. To avoid plagiarism, you are required to provide appropriate citations when you use ideas and arguments or otherwise draw on others' work. If you present the materials or ideas of an existing company as your own, without acknowledging the source, I will consider this plagiarism. For example, it is plagiarism to present a pre-existing product/service as your own new idea in your marketing plan. Pre-existing products/services should be treated as competitors in the marketplace.

If you cheat or plagiarize, you may fail either a quiz/assignment or the course. I have zero tolerance for cheating or plagiarism and there are no acceptable excuses for these offenses. To learn more, all students should visit the website <http://tl.ust.hk/integrity>. If you are uncertain what it means to cheat or plagiarize, please ask.

The value of in-class activities (discussions, interactive learning exercises, etc.) is diminished by prior knowledge of them. You are explicitly requested to avoid discussing class activities with students in other sections of this course. While such discussions do not constitute cheating, they are explicitly discouraged.

F. COURSE COMMUNICATION

The success of this course depends upon communication, so please speak up during class, or via email. We welcome suggestions to improve classroom and teaching effectiveness, but please note that it might not be feasible to incorporate some changes during the current semester.

When emailing about specific assignments, please include “MARK2120 -T#(team number)” in the subject line of the email (i.e. MARK2120- T#1: a question about...).

As a university student, you must actively participate in your own learning process. You are expected to:

1. Try to answer questions about the course material on your own or with your peers by digging deeper into the text and lecture notes. For those questions that remain unanswered, please contact us!
2. Manage group interactions internally. If group discussion does not suffice, make use of peer evaluation. Only in dire circumstances should you contact us to mediate conflict.
3. Contact us if you are having ongoing difficulties with the course. If you wait until late in the semester to seek solutions to problems that have persisted during the entire term, it is often too late for us to help you.

G. MISCELLANEOUS NOTES

1. Attend the lecture section in which you are officially enrolled. Otherwise, you will not receive credit for in-class team activities.
2. Check your HKUST email and the course webpage regularly for important announcements and updates.
3. The lecture topics, schedule, assignments, and grading schemes are subject to change. Please be sure to have the most up-to-date documents.
